DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's arguments filed on Feb. 16, 2007 have been fully considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 4, 5, 11, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 4 and 11, the term "low" is unclear because it is a relative term, and without a standard to which to compare, the term "low" is meaningless. Further, since the coefficient can have negative and positive value it is not clear whether the value has a low absolute value or if the value has a negative value.

Regarding claims 4, 5, 11 and 12, it is not clear with respect to which temperature the coefficient is low or has a substantially zero coefficient. The independent claims recite a first, a second and a mean operating temperature each having distinct coefficient, and it is not clear at which temperature the coefficient is low or has a substantially zero coefficient.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 4, 5, 8, 11, 12 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morin, SR. etc. (Morin) (2002/0064655).

Morin discloses a method of manufacturing a component and the component comprising glass material (para 0013) and tailoring coefficient of thermal expansion where the value is negative or zero depending on appropriate control of additives or process (para 0005, 0011). Although Morin does not explicitly disclose that the temperature at which the coefficient of thermal expansion is between the manufacturing temperature and the mean operating temperature, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide a method or a component in which the coefficient of thermal expansion has a zero-crossing at a first temperature, the manufacturing the component at a second temperature and the first temperature is between the second temperature and the mean operating temperature because the component is manufactured at a temperature, and the mean operating temperature depends on the operation in which the component is used, and with the two temperatures provided, it would be a routine skill as taught by Morin to tailor the zero-crossing of the coefficient of thermal expansion to fall between the two temperatures. Regarding the limitation of the use of the component in a lithographic apparatus, the limitation is not given any patentable weight because the limitation is merely intended use.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-20 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-14 of U.S. Patent No. 6,747,730. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the current claims are broader and thus fully met by the prior patent and the analysis is not required. For example, unlike the claims of the patent, the current claims claim a method of manufacturing and a component.

Remarks

In response to applicant's argument 35 USC 112 rejection in the previous office action is withdrawn. Further 35 USC 101 double patenting rejection is withdrawn, but claims 18 and 19 are rejected under nonstatutory double patenting. Further, the terminal disclaimer is not accepted because no ownership and assignee is listed in accordance with 37 CFR 3.73(b). Applicant is requested to provide the proper information with the submission of terminal disclaimer.
